Want more timely information?

There's a lot more going on in GPM than we can show in this quarterly. To get up to the minute information about our goings on, change your personal profile to ask for electronic communication from GPM in your Mensa member profile. In addition to the GPM Live Web Calendar, we send out a weekly eUpdate with the upcoming two weeks of calendar events.

There is a small catch: you have to have an email account and be registered on the Mensa National site. That same login gets you access to the Members Only section of the GPM website. Share it with us and we both win.

If you are still unsure how to proceed and would like some one-on-one help doing this, contact Webmaster, Dave Pivin, at 602-677-6129.

From the Grumpy Puzzle Maven:

I don't remember where I heard it, but it resonates true right down in my alligator brain. There are far more people who want the title than want the work. Which is really ironic, since the work is where the satisfaction comes from. Just having a title is like getting a participation trophy. All you have to do is breathe to get it. It's doing something productive that makes the title worth something.

GPM is rolling along quite nicely, but it could be so much better, more dynamic, with your contribution. Only you have the skills and knowledge and interests you have. If you share them everybody benefits, you most of all, because you'll have earned the satisfaction you'll feel.

If you have something specific you want to share, or if you're willing to tackle any of the opportunities GPM has waiting for a leader, contact any ExCom member, or just show up at the meeting, 2pm, 2nd Sunday, at Hilton Garden Inn Mid-town.
